

Quality of newborn care at birth

2012

Quality of care can be measured by seeing if simple measures to save lives are being practiced by skilled birth attendants. Skilled birth attendants range from trained community health workers to nurses, doctors and midwives. Findings from three low-income settings show quality of care for the newborn is low even when a skilled birth attendant is at the mother's side during birth.

Ethiopia

6%

newborns with a skilled attendant at birth are dried within 30 minutes of birth to help regulate their temperature and stay warm

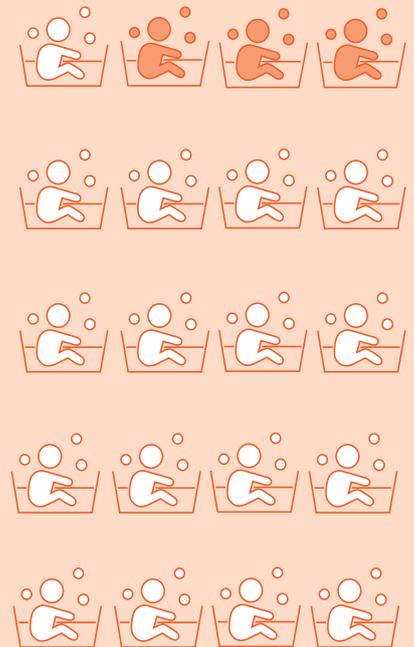

Gombe State, Northeast Nigeria

9%

newborns with a skilled attendant at birth are breastfed less than 1 hour after birth to make sure they get the nutrients they need

Uttar Pradesh State, India

14%

newborns with a skilled attendant at birth have their bathing delayed for over 6 hours after birth to help regulate their body temperature and stay warm